Five years after a "one-night stand" in a hay barn with consequences, now Major Wulf Huntington returns to Lady Burberry's home on his stepfather's errand to choose books from Lord Admiral Burberry's estate. Lady Rose Burberry's house party to choose a husband among eligible bachelors is to begin shortly. The attraction is still there between the two and neither is very happy about it. A wager is mentioned but not clearly explained until nearly the end - although the reader has an idea what it is probably about. There are scenes which seem unnatural: Rose discovers destruction in the room used by Wulf but when she confronts him, she does not describe the damages (including a map cut into strips) so he cannot know what she is talking about. Other scenes are quite nice: after a boatride with the sexually aggressive Lady Haberton Wulf is "saved" by his 4-year old daughter when he escapes into the bushes and she asks if he is also playing hide and seek. Overall I did enjoy the story and would give it 4 stars if not for the repetitive "thoughts" of the two main characters - his over her deceit, hers over desire not being enough.

Kurzbeschreibung
A Military Hero and a Despairing Wife . . . Captain Wulf Huntington and Rose, Lady Burberry, become lost in pleasure on an anonymous afternoon and evening caught in time. But reality intrudes sooner than either thought possible when both learn the others true identity and all the reasons why their love cannot be. He must return to military life and she to the only life she knows. Until . . . Years pass and now the widowed Rose seeks another husband. At a country house party organized to meet eligible men, an angry Wulf intrudes. He wants answers from Rose, answers she is not willing to give. Will past betrayals and secrets keep the lovers apart or will they come to embrace a love for all time?

Most days Lavinia Kent loves her life and knows that she has found her own happily-ever-after with her husband and three children. But on those other days (you know which ones!), she is very glad for the wonderful romances, sensuous gowns, and tall, sexy men that fill her mind and then her computer. Lavinia lives in Washington, DC, with her family and an ever-changing menagerie of pets. She attended Wellesley College as an undergraduate and holds an MBA from Georgetown University. What a Duke Wants is Lavinia's fourth book from Avon Romance. She also has a fun and sexy serial of e-novellas, The Real Duchesses of London, available from Avon Impulse.
